Cos'è ADASilk:

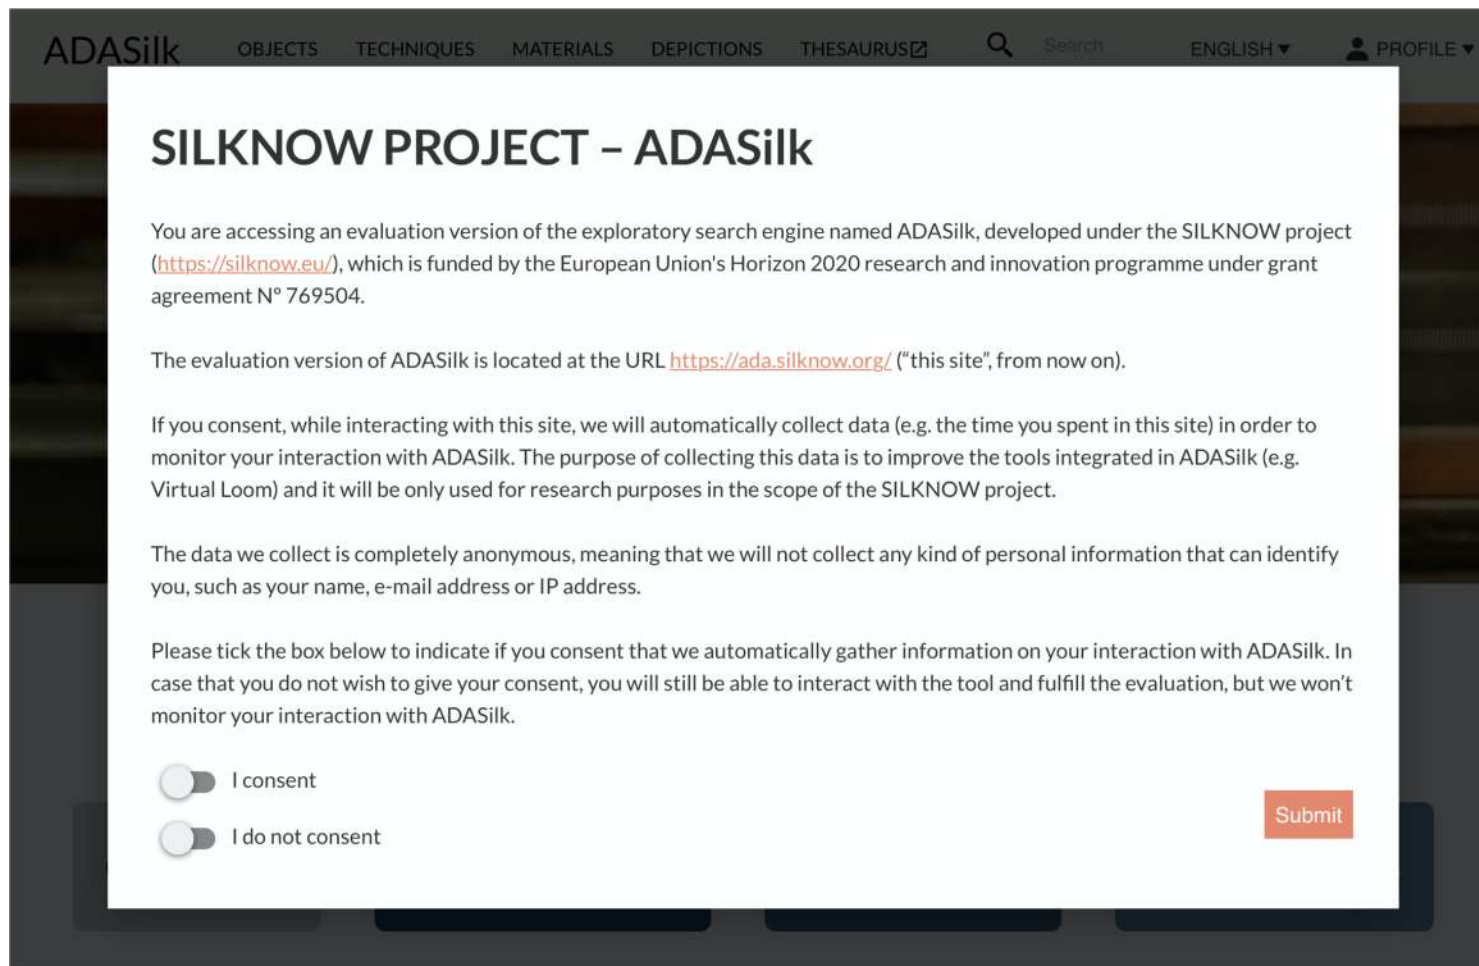

ADASilk (Advanced Data Analysis for Silk heritage), integra un motore di ricerca esplorativa e una mappa spazio-temporale, basandosi sul Knowledge Graph di SILKNOW che contiene quasi 40.000 schede riguardanti i tessuti, con immagini e altre informazioni rilevanti che le descrivono (ad esempio, luogo di produzione, tempi di produzione, materiale, tecnica, ecc.). Queste informazioni sono arricchite da un'analisi testuale, che estrae automaticamente i dati dalla descrizione dei tessuti di seta.

Come accedere ad ADASilk:

Si accede all' applicazione web ADASilk cliccando su <https://ada.silknow.org/en>

The screenshot shows the ADASilk website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for OBJECTS, TECHNIQUES, MATERIALS, DEPICTIONS, and THESAURUS, along with a search bar and language selection (ENGLISH). The main content area is titled "SILKNOW PROJECT - ADASilk". It contains a welcome message stating that the user is accessing an evaluation version of the ADASilk search engine, developed under the SILKNOW project, funded by the European Union's Horizon 2020 research and innovation programme under grant agreement N° 769504. Below this, it states that the evaluation version is located at the URL <https://ada.silknow.org/> ("this site", from now on). A paragraph explains that if the user consents, data (e.g., time spent) will be collected to improve the tools integrated in ADASilk (e.g., Virtual Loom) and it will be used for research purposes. Another paragraph states that the data collected is completely anonymous and will not include personal information. At the bottom, there are two radio buttons for consent: "I consent" and "I do not consent". A red "Submit" button is located in the bottom right corner of the form area.
